

The Seafood Awards 2007

We won the Aquaculture - Salmon category at The Sea Fish Industry (Seafish) Awards in March 2007. Seafish works across all sectors of the UK seafood industry to promote good quality, sustainable seafood being the UK's only cross-industry seafood body working with fishermen, processors, wholesalers, seafood farmers and retailers.

The judges comments were "Loch Duart's overriding philosophy of 'minimum impact, maximum recycling' is evident in everything the company does - this includes its work toward the total recyclability of all of its packaging and its practice of leaving harvested seabeds fallow for an entire year between harvests. The judges said "We were very impressed with the high accolades the company has received for its products, which reflect its commitment to continually improving its working practices".
